Understanding Optical Coatings

Postponed until further notice!

Due to unforeseen circumstances, tomorrow's webinar, "Understanding Optical Coatings," has been postponed until further notice. We appreciate your interest in the webinar and regret any inconvenience this may cause.

This webinar will help users understand the latest technologies in fluorescence, microscopy, and neuroscience applications, in order to specify the right coating to optimize system performance while taking into consideration budget tradeoffs.

Stephan Briggs is the Biomedical Engineer at Edmund Optics' Barrington, NJ, USA office. He is responsible for researching innovative optical techniques in microscopy and medical imaging systems to noninvasively diagnose and treat.
